ABOUT

Incubation is a unique and highly flexible combination of business development processes, infrastructure and people, designed to nurture and grow new and small businesses by supporting them through the early stages of development and change. Business incubation supports the start-up and early stage of new business ventures by providing them with the intensive resources and a development environment in which they can flourish.

'Virtual' business incubation programmes also exist, though they seek to deliver business incubation processes using means other than physical premises. Although even virtual business incubators frequently provide some contact or hot desking facilities i.e. client meeting rooms, conference mail and address hosting facilities. Business incubators, often are only a part of a larger mass of businesses supported by or at the business incubator.

Since startup companies lack many resources, experience and networks, incubators provide services which help them to get through initial hurdles in starting up business. These hurdles include space, funding, legal, accounting, computer services and other prerequisites to running a business.
