STUDENT SATISFACTION COMMITTEE

ANNUAL ACTION PLAN

The meeting of the committee members of the SSS Committee took place on 31/07/2023. The agenda of the meeting was as follows:

1. To discuss the progress of the work of the committee in the previous year.
2. To plan the Student Satisfaction Survey for the year 2022-23.
3. To start preparations for NAAC 2024.
4. To discuss the process of SSS during the accreditation process.

The committee members discussed the above issues and the committee has come up with the following action plan.

1. Student Satisfaction Survey for the year 2022-23 would be conducted in August, 2023.
2. The report would be shared with the IQAC in the first week of the September, 2023.
3. Our committee will make presentation of this report in front of IQAC and after its approval. The suggestions would be shared with the departments.
4. SSS Report for the year 2021-22 would be shared with the each head of the department and they would be urged to incorporate the suggestions in the curriculum planning for the current academic year. The departments would also be asked to submit Action Taken Report on the suggestions.
5. The process of conduct of Student Satisfaction Survey was discussed in detail. The process was shared with committee members. Accordingly, it was decided that the seriousness of the process would be conveyed to faculty members and students through various means.
6. Separate survey of the students studying in the first semester of the First Year would be conducted in the next semester. This will acquaint the students as well as it will provide valuable feedback from the first batch under the NEP Framework. This would be done subject to approval of the IQAC.
7. The members have also suggested that providing information on Student Satisfaction Survey could be made part of the induction programme. This would be done subject to approval of the IQAC.

We submit this plan of action to IQAC.

Disaster Management Plan for the Year 2023-2024

The main goal of disaster management committee is to ensure the safety and well-being of students, faculty, and staff during crisis situations. Below is a comprehensive work plan for the college's disaster management committee for the year 2023-2024:

1. Risk Assessment and Hazard Identification:

- Conduct a detailed risk assessment to identify potential hazards specific to the college campus.
- Prioritize risks based on their likelihood and potential impact on the college community.
- Update and maintain a risk register throughout the year.

2. Emergency Response Plan:

- Develop and update an emergency response plan that outlines specific procedures for various types of emergencies, such as fire, earthquake, flood, severe weather, and medical emergencies.
- Designate evacuation routes and assembly points for each building on campus.
- Educate and train all college members on the emergency response plan and their roles during emergencies.

3. Communication and Alert System:

- Implement a reliable and efficient communication system to quickly disseminate emergency alerts and notifications to the entire college community.
- Establish communication protocols with local authorities and emergency services for timely response and assistance.

4. Training and Drills:

- Conduct regular training sessions and drills for students, faculty, and staff to familiarize them with emergency procedures and improve their response capabilities.
- Coordinate with local emergency services to conduct joint exercises for a more realistic scenario.

5. Medical and First Aid Readiness:

Sub: Action Plan: Time Table Committee

Respected Sir,
Following is the action plan for preparation of time table of all disciplines / faculties of our college. The said action plan is for both semesters.

1. Gathering Essential Information: List all classes/grades, subjects, and the number of periods required for each subject per week. Get information about teachers, their subjects, and the maximum number of periods they can take per day. Consider special cases, like double periods for certain subjects, games, and physical education, lab time for science subjects, etc. Consider breaks and lunch timings. Keep in mind any special school activities or events during the week that may interfere with regular class schedules.
2. Defining Constraints: Maximize the number of consecutive free periods, ensuring teachers are not idle for too long. Ensure that each class has a varied schedule each day, with a mix of different subjects. This will prevent subject fatigue in students. Teachers should not be assigned to two places at the same time. Some classes might require double periods, such as science labs or sports classes.
3. Generating a Draft Timetable: Start filling the timetable by placing the most challenging constraints first. This often involves classes with limited options. Continue with the next challenging constraint until all the constraints are placed. Try to evenly spread out subjects for each class across the week, preventing clumping of the same subject on the same day where possible.
4. Review and Revise: Check if there are any conflicts in the timetable such as a teacher being assigned two classes at the same time. Look for ways to optimize further, for example, trying to make sure that teachers' free periods are grouped together. Review the timetable with the perspective of both teachers and students. Is it balanced and fair to all parties?

5. Getting Feedback: Share the draft timetable with teachers and staff, asking for their feedback. This step is important as teachers might have insights and suggestions you haven't thought of. Revise the timetable according to the feedback received.
6. Finalization and Publishing: Make the final revisions and prepare the final copy of the timetable. Distribute the timetable among teachers and students, and publish it on the school notice board, website, and any other place where it's easily accessible. Remember to provide a few extra copies in the admin office and staff room.
7. Monitoring and Adjustments: During the first few weeks of implementation, monitor how the timetable is working out. Make necessary adjustments based on practical execution. Ensure to communicate any changes clearly and in a timely manner to all parties involved.

I am submitting this action plan for your perusal.

Attendance Action Plan

2023 – 2024

Attendance Committee convened on August 12, 2023, at 12:00 noon in the Department of Geography. Following a comprehensive discussion among the committee members, a resolution was reached. Starting from the month of August, we will begin the process of gathering information on students who have exhibited consistent absences from lectures. This information will be collected through the respective Heads of Departments.

Once this data has been collected, the Faculty Coordinator will undertake the task of identifying students who frequently miss classes. Subsequently, coordinators will reach out to these identified students through messages or phone calls, will ask them to attend their lectures regularly. They will also inform about their educational loss if the attendance is not 75 % of the total teaching days.
